Dear Sir/Madam,

The School of Open Learning (SOL) is a constituent centre of the University of Delhi that imparts higher education through distance mode to around 5,00,000 students spread across the Country in five under-graduate programmes viz. B.A. B.Com. B.A (H) English, B.A. (H) Pol. Sc. and B.Com (H) and five post-graduate programmes viz. M.A. Hindi, M.A. History, M.A. Pol.Sc., M.A Sanskrit and M.Com.

SOL provides education through distance mode, wherein in addition to providing Reading Material/Study Material in hard copy format Reading Material/Study Material in soft copy format is also provided to students through SOL website.

It is important to mention here that from the academic session 2019-2020, the SOL has also implemented the CBCS (LOCF) semester system in all the above mentioned five UG Courses. As such, the syllabi of all the UG Courses administered by SOL are now at par with the regular courses offered in colleges of the University. It is thus pertinent that in the current scenario when the entire country is under lockdown due to Covid-19 pandemic and the teaching-learning process in the University of Delhi is being undertaken in the online mode, the Reading/Study material of 1st and 2nd semesters of all the UG Courses as mentioned above and the e-pustakdwar portal be available to all the students across the nation.

In light of this requirement, the Reading/Study material as mentioned above is now open for regular students of the University of Delhi as well as students from other Universities. You are therefore requested to kindly disseminate this information to all the concerned Departments, Teacher-in-Charges, Teachers and Students of your college so that of the entire students community is benefited. Please also share the link on your website for students to make the best use of this opportunity

The link of the online Reading material and Study Material as well as e-pustakdwar (Library portal) available on SOL website i.e. <https://sol.du.ac.in> are as follows:
